First edition. 10, [2]pp. Stapled printed green wrappers. Very slight smudge on front wrap, still easily fine. OCLC locates six copies. An informal autobiography written by Chesterfield County resident Judith Ann Robertson Foster in 1918. She grew up during the Civil War, both her brothers joined the Chesterfield County Infantry when war broke out in 1861. Their deaths lead to her mother caring for wounded soldiers in their house. Her husband, Elridge Foster, was held as a prisoner by the Union army but was released after the cease fire. [\[BTC#369978\]](#)
