Oblong large quarto. Rawhide tied flexible leather boards hand-tooled in an arts and crafts style. Some modest dampstains on the boards, some of the images mounted with tape in the corners, else near fine. 194 snapshot images, a wide various of sizes, both lack and white and sepia-toned, both glossy and mat finishes. A majority are captioned in white on the black leaves, some smudges to the captions but mostly readable with modest effort. Laid in is the commencement booklet for the Smith College Class of 1922. Album of a Smith College girl, along with some images of her family and the surrounding area. The album begins with images of a young woman named "Elizabeth" and her family, including many images from Wellesley. The album progresses through her years at Smith (ample evidence indicates she attended between 1918-1922), including many group and individual images of her classmates and the surrounding areas, (including an image of Madame Marie Curie at a commencement where she was bestowed with an honorary degree in 1921), as well as many images of family during vacations and breaks. The album concludes with a number of post college images of family, including a few primitive color photos. The few loose images are additionally captioned on the back, providing one with the dilemma of whether to remove some of the images, which we have declined to do. Presumably with some modest research the identity of the album's owner could be deduced, something else we've declined to do. Of modest peripheral interest is that Margaret Mitchell attended Smith College between 1918-1919 and would have been in the Class of 1922 if she hadn't returned home after her freshman year to take over her family household upon the death of her mother. While there are several pictures of the freshman class including a couple of group shots, we have not positively identified her in this album. In any event an interesting and well-captioned (mostly with last names, except for those of the owner's immediate family) album representative of the experience of the college woman of the imeediate post-WWI era.
