[Photo Album]: African-American Debutante Girl's Scrapbook

Los Angeles/New Mexico: 1970s

$500

Folio. Pictorial plastic scrapbook album measuring 12" x 14". Near fine with some edgewear and tiny tears. A scrapbook compiled by Anne Renee Mims an African-America woman documenting her high school life in the late 1970s in Los Angeles including her "coming out" as a debutante as well as college life at the University of New Mexico. Contained within are numerous newspaper clippings, some snapshots, programs, and various ephemera from 1977 until 1980. The clippings showcase films that she saw, businesses she went to, as well as a variety of sports stars she admired which include O.J. Simpson, Marvin Johnson a basketball star from the University of New Mexico, Kareem Abdul Jabbar, various members of the Dallas Cowboys, and some athletes from her high school.

Mims collects together report cards, checks for charity events she's involved in, programs for events, business cards, and SAT and scholarship information. One page is titled, "My Debut," and showcases ephemera from Mims debutante coming out party thrown by the Egyptian Court No. 5, Daughters of Isis in 1977 including a program for a luncheon, reminder slips, and tickets. Another page displays snapshots, military payment certificate, and clipping surrounding her military uncle's, Lee Louis Abram, death in 1975. An interesting collection of ephemera depicting the life of a California girl in the 1970s. [BTC#396427]

Why should I be anything

What's Happening...

Buffalo's O.J. Simpson
"Won't Ask for a Trade"

O.J. Says He Could Return Next Season

BUFFALO (AP) — O.J. Simpson, the Buffalo Bills' star running back who is scheduled to undergo surgery on his ailing left knee, indicated Monday that he thinks he will be able to return to the National Football League team next season.

Simpson, who will undergo the operation for cartilage damage to his knee either today or Wednesday, said the surgery was not expected to be serious.

"I'm glad it's a cartilage and not a ligament," he said. "If you have to have a knee injury, mine is the kind to have. You often don't need a cast and are off crutches after three to four weeks."

He said chances of his returning to the Bills next season are "as good as any."

Two reasons, "pride" and the desire to "end my career on a positive note" might motivate his return.

"I can't make decisions like that until the off-season," he said.

His ever-burgeoning off-the-field interests, on the other hand, would be a factor that might cause him to retire, said Simpson.

Simpson, who has a budding acting career, said, "I've been meeting directors and getting tons of scripts." And although Simpson said he "definitely won't ask for a trade," he would not be displeased with one.

"If I were traded to a championship team, I wouldn't be unhappy. I would play for any championship team anywhere and I would play for a lot less money," Simpson said.

Simpson said surgery was recommended by specialists because his knee was beginning to atrophy due to the cartilage damage.

The NFL's premier runner laughed when asked if he was using the knee injury as an excuse to end his career with the struggling Bills.

"That would be rather drastic, to have an operation, don't you think?"

Bill's O.J. Simpson Is Tackled Topped 10,000 Yard Mark Sunday

Juice Flows Again

Oct. 17, 1977
BUFFALO — O.J. Simpson gained 138 yards in reaching the 10,000-yard career mark for rushing and Neil O'Donoghue booted a 30-yard field goal in the second quarter to give the Buffalo Bills a 3-0 victory over the Atlanta Falcons.

Only 27,348 fans, the fewest in the five-season history of Rich Stadium, showed up to watch the Bills snap a 14-game losing streak and give Coach Jim Ringo his first regular season victory since he took over.

The Falcons now are 3-2. Simpson, only the second player in NFL history to go over 10,000 yards, now trails Jim Brown's all-time record of 13,312 yards by 2,250.

It was the Bills' first shutout since they blanked Baltimore 6-0 in 1974.

Payton Takes O.J.'s Place

The Chicago Bears' great running back did more than take O.J. Simpson's place as the most productive single game rusher in NFL history with his 275 yards on 40 carries to pace the Bears to a 10-7 victory Sunday.

The Heisman trophy pickers ignored Payton when he was running wild at Jackson State.

The Heisman trophy people will undoubtedly do the same to Grambling State University dynamic Douglas Williams, undoubtedly the top collegiate QB in the land.

Hopefully, the pros won't. The Bears made Payton their No. 1 pick three years ago and he has been paying dividends ever since.

Payton's tremendous success will undoubtedly focus more attention on Williams who leads Eddie Robinson's once-beaten Grambling State Tigers against Southern University in the New Orleans Superdome before another record crowd.

The Grambling-Southern game will be carried on the NCAA game of the week on ABC in some southern cities.

This game merits national exposure and Grambling deserves a bid to one of the major bowl games.

Back to Payton

O.J. Simpson's NFL single season rushing record of 2,000 yards appeared unapproachable until Payton's big day Sunday against the Minnesota Vikings. Ironically, today (Thursday) Payton goes against the Detroit Lions, the team O.J. ripped off the old NFL single game rushing record of 273 yards last Thanksgiving Day.

O.J.'s place in the NFL rushing books will become Payton's place, if he can average 150 yards per game in the Bears final four contests against, Detroit, Tampa Bay, Green Bay and the New York Giants.

If Payton succeeds you can bet O.J. will be back in the NFL at Buffalo or somewhere. Those old competitive juices will not let "The Juice" watch the action from the sidelines.

Captain Kareem Abdul Jabbar can't return to the Los Angeles Lakers line-up soon enough. The Lakers were embarrassed by the Chicago Bulls like no other team in history. Center Artis Gilmore welcomed the Lakers' rookie pivot man to the NBA with a real lesson as how the good ones play the position.

And in the process, the Lakers were limited to an all-time NBA low of six points in the first quarter. Jeff High could have done as well.
