[Photo Album]: Depression-Era Skiing and Hiking with the Dartmouth Outing Club
New Hampshire: 1932-1933 and 1936

$1500

Oblong quarto. String-tied gilt-stamped pebbled cloth album with 42 leaves of stiff black paper, on which are 167 gelatin silver photographs mounted two or three to the page, 65 of them with short captions written in white ink. The photos measuring between 2½" x 3½" and 4¾" x 3½". Remarkably fine album with fine and sharp interior photographs.

Myself

Summit of Monadnock - Oct. 1932

A nice collection of skiing and hiking in New Hampshire taken by members of the Dartmouth Outing Club in the early 1930s; also with a few pages from 1936. Included are images from trips to Mt. Monadnock, Mt. Moosilauke, Newfound Lake, Mt. Liberty and Mt. Lafayette, the Pemigewasset Valley, Pinkham Notch, and Mt. Washington. At least 70 of the photographs picture members of the club on skis, usually in action; almost all of the others are scenes from various mountainous areas of New Hampshire, mostly during the winter, with shots of cars on roads with snow higher than their roofs, ski trails, huts for resting and lodging, etc. Those pictured include students identified as Edwin, Maurice, Will, Bob, John, Ned, Myles, Bud Ritchie, Sam Powell, John White, Sandy Holden, Jerry, and the compiler ("myself"). Founded in 1909, the Dartmouth Outing Club is the oldest organization of its type in the United States. The club maintains huts and trails in various areas of the White Mountains, especially around Mt. Moosilauke where Dartmouth College owns a lodge run by members of the club. Presently more than 1500 members of the student body belong to the club through one of the smaller organizations that are now operated under its umbrella. A lovely album of images by the members of the Outing Club during early part of the Great Depression. [BTC#403259]
