Large illustrated broadside or poster. Approximately 19" x 26". Printed (possibly silk-screened) in red-orange on thick black paper with a deckled edge. Tiny tack holes in the corners, else fine. The Great American Lesbian Art Show (GALAS) was an art exhibition first organized in Los Angeles, California but with many associated "sister" events across the country.

This poster for a Chicago show was designed by Ursula Kavanagh and features a central figure of a winged Medusa, adapted from an ancient amphora of Boeotia held at the Louvre. OCLC seems to locate no copies. [BTC#423267]
