

The Class of 1920

The Marylander 1920

Lutherville, Maryland: Maryland College for Women 1920

$150

First edition. Quarto. Leather-grained cloth over flexible card wrappers. 133, [10]pp. Illustrated. Tipped-in dedication photograph. Ownership signature of Lucy McCabe Kelley, the Class Poet, small holes and patches of light erosion to the cloth, else very good or better.

The College had burned in 1911 and apparently taken sometime to reconstitute itself, thus there were only 12 graduating Seniors that year, although the subsequent classes appeared to have been considerably larger. A fairly elaborate and well-designed annual for such a small class. [BTC#424966]

LUCY McCABE KELLEY

Fairmont, W. Va.

Entered Sophomore; Y. W. C. A.; President, Senior Year; Senior Club; Spanish Club; A. A.; T. F. C.; Conference Delegate to Eaglesmere, Junior Year; Class Historian, Junior Year; Sigma Sigma; Class Poet.

LUCY'S very quiet and unobtrusive. You can always find her poring over some book—whether educational or otherwise, as reading is her favorite pastime. She is our dignified member and Y. W. C. A. president. We all have to acknowledge that its progress this year has been due to her guidance and never-failing interest.
