

Althea Bass

Night Walker and the Buffalo

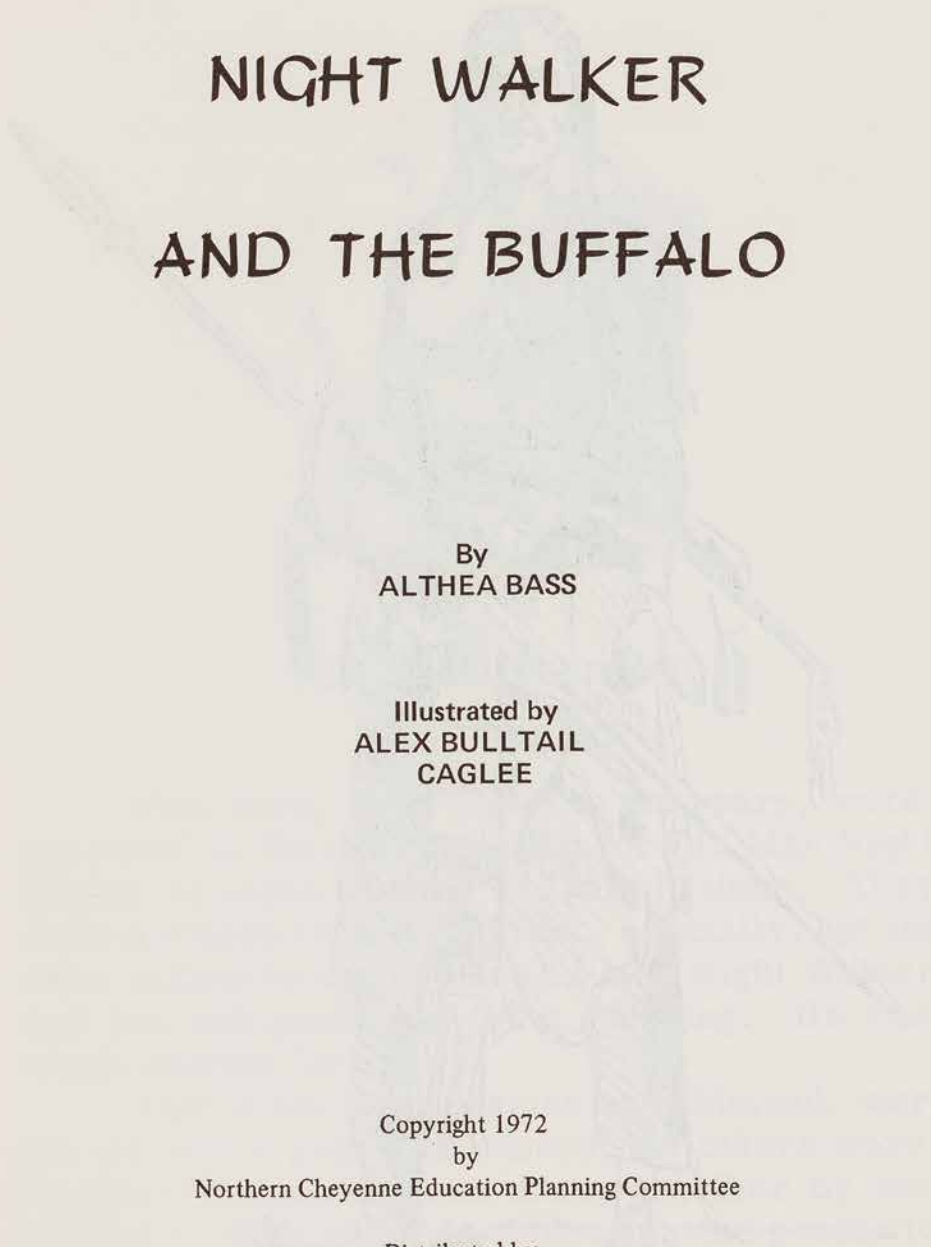

Billings, Montana: Montana Council for Indian Education (1972)

$125

First edition. Illustrated by Alex Bulltail Cagle. Octavo. 32pp. Stapled Illustrated wrappers. Fine with price-sticker on front wrap. Juvenile story for Native American children illustrated by Cheyenne youth. We suspect, but haven't yet fully determined that Bass was a white scholar and teacher who wrote extensively on Native American subjects.

This old man, Night Walker, with his long, lean form, his hair like old brown leather, his hair in two braids over his shoulders, was looking back.
In the west of the room, Jimmy and his wife
their anxious friends, he still had his war shield around in the cover of darkness, that was brown and black with red, and a few with a bow in one hand and arrow in hand.

But Jimmy, it was the first he heard the father, the spotted wolf, give him his own power. With
