First edition. Fine in attractive near fine dustwrapper with a modest scrape on the spine where a small label was removed. Levelheaded registered nurse is shock when the doctor that she had set her cap for marries her sister; she leaves to work in a small mountain community called Pinelands (reminiscent and probably modeled on western in North Carolina), where she works with a gruff doctor and undergoes her own “romantic convalescence.” The dedication copy Inscribed: “To ‘Miss Susie’ - with best wishes from ‘a sincere admirer’ ‘Georgia Craig’ (alias ‘Peggy Gaddis’ et al).” The printed dedication reads: “To Leota Foreman, (more widely known and loved as ‘Miss Susie’) with admiration and esteem.” A very scarce title.
