Chaparral's

ALBUM of CARTOONS

First edition. Quarto. Unpaginated. Stapled illustrated wrappers. Some rubbing from an erasure on titlepage, a little rubbing and light stains on the wrappers, very good or better. Anthology of humor from Stanford, presumably issued during WWII, some of the cartoons address army life and the Japanese internment (an image of an Asian man being carried off by soldiers with the caption "But I'm not a Japanese, I tell you; I'm just a Mongolian idiot!"), racist images, misogyny, and the other mainstays of good ol' college humor. OCLC locates no copies. MISLURE + DRISCOLL

"It's a shame Stanford women have such lousy builds!"

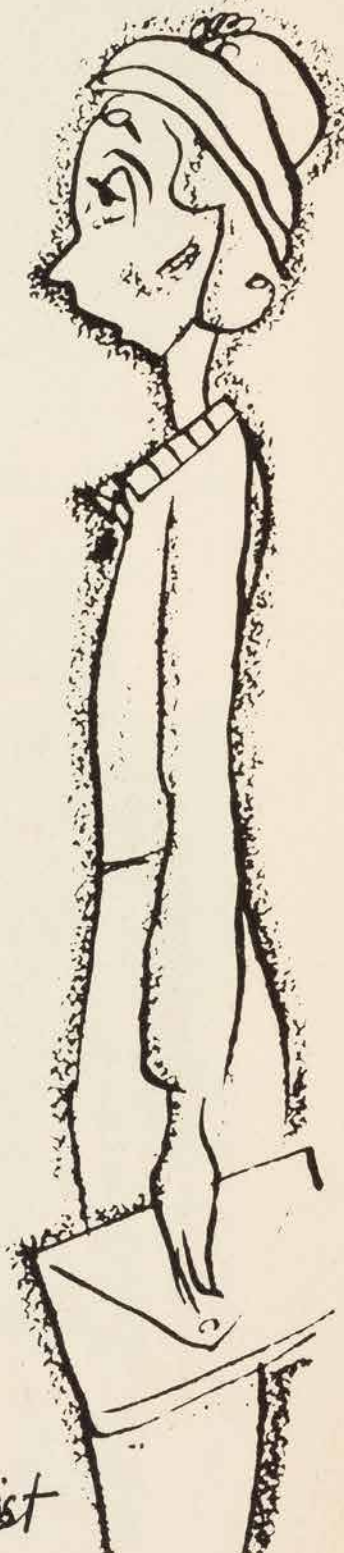

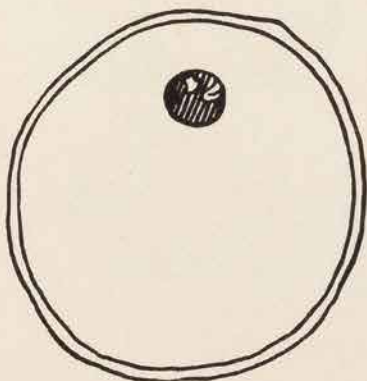

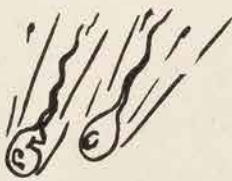

"For God's sake try to remember where that camouflaged latrine is!"

gist

"Haven't you something spiritually uplifting?"

"It don't heat up so fast since you fixed it."

"Well, here I am again!"

"But I'm not a Japanese, I tell you; I'm just a Mongolian idiot!"

"Whaddya mean you're gonna inspect th' room? We're on the Honor System, ain't we?"
