

City Directory of Columbia, S. C. 1927

Columbia, South Carolina: The State Company Printers and Publishers 1927

$1500

1927 edition. Tall, thick octavo. 745, [3]pp. Map on rear endpaper. Ads. Quarter printed red cloth and printed green cloth, with advertising on the page edges. Ownership stamp of the Roddy Motor Co. (and advertiser in the book) repeated on the first leaves, wear on the spine and extremities, offsetting from a removed piece of tape, a couple of leaves dog-eared still a sound, at least very good copy of a heavy volume and thus prone to wear. Massive compilation of information about the city, including addresses and phone numbers, as well as a plethora of advertising. Of particular interest, the last approximately 150 pages of the Directory are supplied with it's own title page, Directory of Colored Persons, and a cloth tab labeled "Colored." Among those listed is a Dr. Mathilda Arabella Evans, the first African-American woman licensed as a physician in South Carolina, whose discretion and professionalism resulted in a clientele of wealthy white woman's whose payment she used to provide free treatment to African-American women and children. A highly informative collection of primary source material bound to present a granular view of the city in 1927. OCLC locates two copies. [BTC#435141]
